Credit analysis is a process of drawing conclusions from available data (both quantitative and qualitative) regarding the credit "worthiness" of an entity, and making recommendations regarding the perceived needs, and risks.

Credit Analysis | What Credit Analyst Look for? 5 C's | Ratios

Financial analysis is the starting point of credit analysis. Historic trends must be examined relative to the current financial position (balance sheet and capital structure) and operating performance. These trends serve as the basis for judging the degree to which forecasts for future operating results and financial position are reasonable.
