Automated theorem proving (also known as ATP or automated deduction) is a subfield of automated reasoning and mathematical logic dealing with proving mathematical theorems by computer programs. Automated reasoning over mathematical proof was a major impetus for the development of computer science.

Metric spaces for program improvement (pdf, bibtex) . Jennifer Hackett and Graham Hutton. In preparation, 2018. Improvement theory is an approach to reasoning about program efficiency that allows inequational proofs of improvement to be written in a similar manner to equational proofs of correctness.

ABSTRACT. We present Typpete, a sound type inferencer that automatically infers Python 3 type annotations. Typpete encodes type constraints as a MaxSMT problem and uses a system of optional constraints and specific quantifier instantiation patterns to make the constraint solving process efficient.

CS-102 Logical Organization of Computers . Aims There are two views of computer architecture. The traditional view, dating back to the IBM System/360 from the early 1960's, is that the architecture of a computer is the programmer-visible view of the machine, while its implementation is the province of the hardware designer.

In mathematics, model theory is the study of classes of mathematical structures (e.g. groups, fields, graphs, universes of set theory) from the perspective of mathematical logic. The objects of study are models of theories in a formal language. A set of sentences in a formal language is one of the components that form a theory. A model of a theory is a structure (e.g. an interpretation) that ...
